THE ACT ON MEASURES AGAINST MONEY LAUNDERING AND TERRORIST FINANCING

There are rules in Sweden to prevent the financial system from being used for money laundering and terrorist financing. The rules are derived from the EU third money laundering directive, which means that the same rules are applicable in other EU countries. The rules state, i.a., that financial institutions have to collect information in order to "know their clients".

Documentation requirements

The rules require the following documents to be handed over to the company in connection with subscriptions to and redemptions of fund units.

Application form, current certificate of incorporation/registration or equivalent and a certified copy of a valid identification document for the person(s) signing on behalf of the company (see below for instructions regarding certification). In the case of authorised signatories who are not Swedish citizens, such a valid identification document shall be their passport, national identity card or ID issued by a Government body showing the photograph and signature. In addition, persons who are not registered in Sweden must also enclose certified copies of two utility bills, by which is meant electricity, telephone, or water bills, or the like.

Politically exposed persons

A politically exposed person is a person who holds or has held an important public position in a state or an international organisation. Individuals in important public positions are, among others, Heads of State, members of parliament, ministers, supreme court and supreme administrative court judges, national audit officers, members of the executive board of central banks, ambassadors, officers of high rank, directors or members of the board of state owned companies, or a member of senior management in an international organisation.

Certification

To certify means to witness and confirm/verify that an abstract or copy is an identical copy of the original. In order for a copied identity document to be regarded as correctly certified it shall be endorsed by one person (other than the person who wishes to subscribe to units in the fund) by writing his signature, his name in block capitals and his telephone number directly on the copy together with wording to the effect that the copy is an identical copy of the original.

Example:

I herewith certify that this copy is an identical copy of the original document:

 FIRST NAME LAST NAME, TEL +12 123 456 78

NB! As a consequence of the rules against money laundering we will be compelled not to accept applications to subscribe to the Fund if the above mentioned documentation is not complete. Subscription payments already received will be repaid to the sender's account, subject to applicable law, or to the account entered on the subscription form by the subscriber. The funds will be repaid without compensation for interest.

Instructions to the Self-certification form

An entity is a company, trust or other association that is defined as an entity in the Act (2015:62) on identification of reportable financial accounts due to the FATCA agreement or the Act (2015:911) on identification of reportable financial accounts in relation to automatic exchange of information on financial accounts.

Definitions

Active non-financial entity

An entity where less than 50 percent of the gross income for the preceding calendar year or other appropriate reporting period is Passive income and less than 50 percent of the assets held by the company during the preceding calendar year or other appropriate reporting period are assets that produce or are held for the production of Passive income.

The term Active non-financial entity is applied for:

- the stock of the non-financial entity is regularly traded on an established securities market or the company is a related entity of an entity the stock of which is regularly traded on an established securities market,
- the non-financial entity is not yet operating a business (the first two years),
- non-financial entities in liquidation or dissolution,
- holding companies where substantially all of the activities of the company consists of holding (in whole or in part) the outstanding stock of, or providing financing and services to, subsidiaries that are not financial entities,
- financial entities within a non-financial group that primarily engages in financing and hedging transactions with, or for, related entities that are not financial entities.

Trusts and other associations that are deemed as Active non-financial entities

- entities that are non-profit organizations acting for public benefit or registered faith communities subject to particular tax exemption under Chapter 7 in the Swedish Income Tax Code (1999:1229);
- charitable foundations that meet the requirements for particular tax exemptions in Chapter 7 in the Swedish Income Tax Code (1999:1229); and
- any other entity subject to tax exemption in Chapter 7, Sections 15-17 in the Swedish Income Tax Code (1999:1229).

Controlling person

A Controlling person can be any natural person who ultimately exercises control over an entity through direct or indirect ownership of or control over more than 25 per cent of the shares (capital, units or equivalent) or voting rights, or who otherwise controls the entity. A future beneficiary and holder of 25 per cent or more of assets managed by i.e. a trust is also considered a Controlling person.

Financial institution

The term Financial institution means a custodial institution, a company providing depository services within its role as a credit institution or certain specified insurance companies. Investment entities are also to be viewed as Financial institutions. An entity is an Investment entity if it in its line of business conducts one of the following activities:

- trading in financial instruments
- individual and collective portfolio management, or
- other investing, administering, or managing of assets.

An entity shall also be considered as a Financial institution if the gross income of which is primarily attributable to investing, reinvesting, or trading in Financial Assets where the entity is managed by another entity that is a Financial institution as described in the first section.

Passive income

Passive income can be: dividend, interest, rent and royalty, annuity, capital from a life insurance, certain other insurance compensation, capital gains from sales that produce Passive income, capital gain from commodity sales, capital gains from foreign exchange and capital gains from derivatives. Rent in a business with employed personnel is most commonly not regarded as passive income.

Passive non-financial entity

A Passive non-financial entity is a company that is neither a Financial institution nor an Active non-financial entity.

Taxpayer identification number

An identification number for a taxpayer or the equivalent (if such number does not exist).

Please note!

All definitions above are summaries of terms defined under Swedish law. For full legal definitions, please refer to the Act (2015:62) on identification of reportable financial accounts due to the FATCA agreement or the Act (2015:911) on identification of reportable financial accounts in relation to automatic exchange of information on financial accounts.
